Horne Also Passengers on St. Paul.

Thomas Nelson Page, American Ambassador to Italy, sailed yesterday on the American Ilmer St. Paul to return to this post after a short leave of absence. There were 548 passengers on board the St. Paul, an unusually large sailing list for the present time.

Among the other passengers was Mrs. C. M. Horne, who is on her way to England to claim an estate of $250,000 left by her husband, Capt. Horne, of the British army, killed in action. Mrs. Horne was Miss Battersfield of New York and was married to Capt. Horne in the City Hall five years ago. It was necessary for her to make a hurried trip to the City Hall to obtain a duplicate of the marriage license.
